

Bacchus Beyond Discover Tasting

Warming Reds bring Christmas Cheer

If you're dreaming of a White Christmas and your dreams come true I would recommend having a glass of warming red wine to enjoy as you brush the snow off your mince pies. In reality, we know it probably won't snow at Christmas but if turkey is not on your menu, or if you're looking for something special to enjoy later on Christmas day with the TV Christmas Specials, a rich, deep red wine, full of dark fruit, vanilla and spice, is the perfect Christmas drink. The good news is that we offer lots of choice in gutsy reds, from everyday to indulgent, and our Warming Reds tasting will showcase some of the inkiest, deepest reds in our range alongside some of their dark red but subtler cousins although all will provide a generous punch of red fruit flavours. Not only will this tasting showcases some of our favourite red wines in our range, it will also offer a spot or two of deep red, gusty Christmas cheer a couple of weeks before the big day. We can promise that a quick chorus of "I'm dreaming of a Red Christmas" may be considered but will not be compulsory.
